Japanese Alpinists Climb at Jasper

HEADED BY Yuko Maki, under secretary of the Japanese Alpine Club, six noted Japanese Alpinists have left Jasper Park Lodge, at Jasper, Alberta, for a twenty-five days' trip into the Columbia Icefield, one of the least-known portions of the Canadian Rockies. Their trip will take them to the headwaters of the Athabasca and North Saskatchewan Rivers, and an endeavor will be made to climb Mount Alberta, a virgin peak which has so far defied all efforts to conquer its higher slopes. Members of the party state that if the territory lies up to their expectations it will attract hundreds of Japanese Alpinists annually. The expedition is elaborately equipped scientifically and the equipment includes stilt and motion picture cameras and a complete dark room with which pictures will be developed in the field. Three Swiss guides, Heinrich Fuhrer, Hans Kohler, and Jean Webber, from Jasper Park Lodge, are accompanying the party and five guides and forty horses from the outfitting stables of Fred Brewster, are being used on the trip. This is the largest party which has left the Lodge this year, and the first party of Japanese Alpinists to tackle some of the untried fields of the Canadian Rockies.

MR. ELLIOT GIVES ANOTHER STOCK TALK

Tuesday afternoon was the day chosen for the second stock-judging lesson which took place at Carriiden, the home of Mr. Norman Strachan, and was again addressed by Mr. W. J. Elliott of Vermilion School of Agriculture. There was a most gratifying turn out of boys, some of them coming as far as 16 miles to take part in the demonstration. Dr. H. G. Folkins, President of the society was also present, he and several of the directors having been good enough to bring along a bunch of boys who otherwise could not have made the trip.

The second lesson being from "Live Illustrations" four beef and dairy exhibits were chosen from the fine herd of Shorthorns on the farm, and although the chosen four showed a little displeasure at times over being firmly held in place while the youthful stock-judges expressed their opinion of their merits, and at other times appeared to be wondering what it was all about, they behaved as well bred Shorthorns should, and bore their trials stoically.

After a preliminary talk Mr. Elliott invited the class to try its skill at judging the animals themselves. The ready response of the boys and the adroitness of the conclusions showed how thor-

Convention At Wainwright Is Attended By Over Two-Hundred Delegates

Over two hundred delegates and visitors have been in session at Wainwright, Monday and Tuesday, July 27th and 28th, in connection with the Battle River U. F. A. and U. F. W. A. seventh annual convention.

Great interest and much enthusiasm prevailed throughout the deliberation. The meetings were presided over by Mr. A. P. Aik en, president of the association, and chairman of the convention. The convention was addressed by the following speakers: H. E. Spencer, M.P., W. Irvine, M.P., (Calgary), J. R. Love, M.L.A., H. W. Wood, president of the U. F. A., A. C. Ross, (Vermilion), Mrs. Postans, (Heath).

Henry E. Spencer M.P. for Battle River, gave a very valuable and interesting report of the work accomplished by the Alberta members, at the recent session of Parliament, which was greatly appreciated by the convention.

An address by Wm. Irvine M.P. Calgary (labour) was received with merited attention, the speaker being heartily applauded during the course of his remarks.

WAINWRIGHT U.F.A. CONVENTION

The delegates being fewer in number, by some four or five than were present a year ago, all represented the provincial constituencies of Ribstone, Wainwright, Alexandria and Vermilion which will be roughly speaking the New Battle River Constituency after the Federal election takes place. Consequently that part of the constituency was better represented than it has been for some years previous.

One outstanding feature is that practically all the delegates are taking more part in the discussion from year to year, thus showing that they are taking more interest in public affairs than they did before.

Two resolutions on Banking which were spoken of by Mr. C. East of Vermilion for over half an hour took considerable time, one asked for the removal of restrictions from the Post Office Savings which can only accept some fifteen hundred dollars per year from any one depositor and with a maximum amount of only five thousand dollars. Any one depositor can only draw up to twenty-five dollars per day, at any time. Our member brought this matter to the acting minister of finance in the house last year and asked for the restrictions to be removed so that it would be possible for depositors to take advantage of the system and also it would mean that the Government would have a chance to have a great deal more money at its disposal. The Province of Alberta saving certificates sell readily at four and one half per cent, why three for the Dominion Savings Bank?

The other resolution asked for the establishment of a central Federal Bank where government Bonds could be discounted and thus affect a great saving which at present goes to the private Chartered Banks. Towards the end of the first day, Mr. R. J. Love M.L.A. gave a very interesting talk on the different pools very much along the same lines as when he spoke when organizing in this district in June. He made the remark that where there were good live U.F.A. locals that the meetings were better attended and a larger sign up obtained.

A delegate rose and complimented Mr. Love on his address and said he had learned more of interest than he had during the rest of the afternoon. Of course where this particular delegate came from they had not had a speaker on the pools during the drive. President, H. W. Wood reviewed the forward steps of the farmers organizations in Alberta from the time of the Society of Equity to which he belonged up to the work of forming the vari-

LOCAL NOTES OF INTEREST

Mr. Wm. Woodside and her grand-daughter of Asquith, Sask. are visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. Hawthorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Scott are visiting relatives and friends, having come from the east on their summer vacation trip.

Chauvin schools re-open Monday August 24th with Mr. K. Tooke and Miss G. Kingsley as teachers.

Mr. E. J. Mathieu, from the Trochu branch, is now keeping ledger at the Chauvin branch of the Bank of Montreal. Mr. Fontaine having retired from the service of the bank.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of the Stannore school calling for tenders for re-staining the roof, and other work on the premises. Here is some good money for an enterprising local worker.

Mr. J. B. Girard was honored by a surprise party last Thursday evening. This being his fiftieth birthday. The guests, numbering over fifty spent a real good time, as a big family party. A number of presents were brought along.

The Indians say the "White man make big smoke." Guess they are right; judging from G. G. Shantz's way of burning fox-tail grass.

Give the kiddies a treat by taking them to the picture show on Fair Day, first show beginning at six p.m. I.O.O.F. Chauvin.

A small fire was started by a train last Sunday morning at Chauvin. Owing to the prompt Rev. Bro. Berger, it was prevented from running into the village.

Later however in the afternoon it started afresh and was got under control by the united efforts of two section men assisted by O. Hawthorn, W. O. Harris, W. J. Cubitt, and L. D'Albertanson, Jr. who got busy with wet sacks, shovels and rakes, to "make it safe". Again at night M. Parcels W. Cubitt and L. D'Albertanson, Jr. found that it was breaking through and put some finishing work smothering the smouldering straw and dry grass and weeds. This should prove a warning to those who travel on straw roads to be careful with matches, cigarettes, stubs etc.

Rev. W. MacKenzie former pastor of the Chauvin mission has been successful in receiving an appointment to South Calgary New Union Church. We congratulate Mr. MacKenzie who was chosen from twenty applicants for the pastorate. A furnished manse is also provided with this position.

MERON COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES

A meeting of the Council of Merton Municipal District was held in Winona Schoolhouse on Saturday, July 25th, when there were present the Reeve and all the Councillors.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and passed, on motion of Mr. Heard.

The Council then went into discussion of the problem of road work. The Secretary presented a statement showing the financial position of the Municipal District at the present time. The statement showed that, after providing for all possible liabilities and setting aside a reserve of $15,000 for school operations, a surplus remained of $4,800. After a full discussion it was moved and carried that the amount allotted for road work expenditure for the current year be increased by one mill on the previous year's assessment. For the benefit of those rate-payers interested, it may be explained that this does not mean an increase in taxation. The additional road work expenditure it taken from the surplus created in previous years.

Considerable municipal correspondence was dealt with by the Council. Accounts and road sheets, amounting to $1,566.63 were submitted to the Council, and passed for payment on motion of Mr. Cameron.

The Council then sat as a court of Revision for the purpose of hearing appeals on new assessments.

The date of the next meeting was left to the call of the Reeve, and the Council then adjourned.

It will pay you to order your fruit at Sakers. Do it now.

LIVE STOCK POOL DIRECTORS MEETING

All the district directors of the Chauvin Ribstone Live Stock Shipping Association were present at a special meeting held in Chauvin last Saturday afternoon.

The matter of sending a delegate to the Edmonton meeting was discussed, but owing to the proximity of harvesting, it was decided that no delegate should be sent.

The directors passed a resolution calling for the discussion of the following at the general meeting to be held in Edmonton.

1. How are delegates to the general meeting to have their expenses paid.

2. That if a contract signer ship a full car of stock, he have the privilege to go with the car to marketing point.

3. That we are of the opinion that in districts where the contract signers are widely scattered that it might be advisable to have a local shipper attend to the shipments until such time as the organization can organize a wider territory.

Wide World Magazine

For eight years, 1904 to 1912, I had the honour to belong to the Royal North-West Mounted Police of Canada, and during my service I came across several interesting instances of "second sight" among the Eskimos. Two cases in particular made a deep impression upon my mind, and I propose to set down here exactly what happened and leave the reader to form his own conclusions.

The Eskimos of the west coast of Hudson Bay, amongst whom I took the census in 1910, believe that their destinies are ruled by spirits, or "angekokts," and that any infringement of certain tribal laws will bring down upon them summary punishment from the outraged spirits.

The headman of each tribe is known as an "angekok man," and his word is law amongst his people. He alone is supposed to be able to interpret the wishes of the spirits, and he is believed to be possessed of "second sight."

One day in the summer, old Peter, an Aivilik Eskimo and "angekokman" of great repute happened to come into Fort Churchill. The Hudson's Bay Co.'s steamer Pelican was overdue, and just for fun we induced the old man to go off into one of his trances, and then asked him questions as to the whereabouts of the vessel and the safety of her crew.

When he was under the "influence," he told us that the Pelican was in great trouble through assisting another vessel, but that both would arrive in two days' time. Sure enough the Pelican duly appeared on the day indicated, having in tow a small auxiliary cutter named "Paradox" which she had encountered in Hudson Straits so badly damaged by the ice that her crew had abandoned her.

The Pelican took the derelict in tow, but had part of her rudder carried away and experienced great difficulty in reaching Churchill. All this happened five days before we in Fort Churchill were to be interrogated by old Peter, and a glance at the map will prove that a native of Fort Churchill, on the west coast of Hudson Bay, could have no possible means of knowing, by any ordinary method, what was happening half way up the Hudson Straits.

The second instance was even more startling. In March 1911, it had been arranged that I should patrol as far as Ranken Inlet, two hundred and fifty south of Fullerton, taking my census returns with me, and to there connect with a patrol from Fort Churchill commanded by Sergeant Borden. Each of us was to wait three days beyond a specified time of meeting to allow for unfavorable weather conditions.

Two day's journey from Ranken Inlet I reached old Peter's camp, out of sheer curiosity asked him if he would exercise his occult powers and tell me how Borden's patrol was faring. I had encountered very bad weather myself, and was a little anxious about them. Peter duly passed into a trance, and told me that my comrades had encountered great hardships: he feared they were entirely lost. This so impressed me—perhaps because Borden was a very close friend of mine—that I pushed on at once in the direction of Churchill, and about two days later, to my great relief, met Borden alive and well. He was rather short of food, but otherwise O.K. The Sergt. and I had a good laugh over Peter's "vision" and decided for once the old man had "backed the wrong horse."

In the summer, however, when I went to Fort Churchill again, we received our mail from the outside world, and the news we gleaned from it caused us to change our opinions of old Peter's clairvoyant, or telepathic, power. We were horrified to learn that in March, just about the time I was interviewing the Eskimos, a patrol led by Inspector Fitzgerald, and consisting of Constables Taylor, Gilchrist, and Special Constable Carter, had lost their way while proceeding from Fort McPherson to Dawson City, Yukon, and perished to a man.

The story, briefly, was as follows:—

Having received orders to patrol from McPherson to Dawson City, Inspector Fitzgerald took with him the two constables, Taylor and Gilchrist, with Carter—who had previously been in the Force as a guide. From a diary, found later on the insector's body, it appears that on reaching Little Wind River, Carter proved to be at fault as to the route, and after wandering about for some time, Fitzgerald decided to return to McPherson, as they were running short of food. Before long they were reduced to killing and eating their dogs, but they struggled on gamely until at length, thirty miles from the Fort, Taylor and Gilchrist were completely exhausted, and could go no further. Leaving them in a brush camp, with all the sleeping robes and such food as remained, the Inspector and Carter tried to push on, hoping to reach the Fort and send back help. They actually got within ten miles of their destination, and then both men succumbed.

When the patrol became overdue at Dawson City, Corporal Dempster, one of the finest trackers in the North, went out in search of them. Ere long he came across the dead bodies of Taylor and Gilchrist. It was evident that Gilchrist had died first, for he was wrapped up in all the robes. Taylor apparently had abandoned hope when his comrade died, and had shot himself with his carbine. Close by was a camp kettle half full of boiled moccasins, which the poor fellows had cut up and used for food.

Fitzgerald and Carter were found ten miles from Fort McPherson. Carter had died first, and the Inspector had laid him out and covered his face. Then, after carefully entering up his official diary, the lion-hearted Fitzgerald had laid down on his side facing his comrade, and so calmly awaited his death.

Now, one police patrol in the Arctic looks very much like another, and it struck both Sergeant Borden and myself, after hearing this tragic news, that by some chance it was Fitzgerald's ill-fated patrol that old Peter "saw" in his trance-vision, and not Borden's. By no ordinary method of communication could the old man have possibly known what was happening to either party. Anyway, there are the facts, and leave "Wide World" readers to judge for themselves.

It takes more money to be a millionaire now than it did fifty years ago.

"My Greatest Thrill In Sport"

Being an Account of an Adventure Which Overtook Ozark Ripley On the Nipigon.

OZARK RIPLEY
To me this summer in July on the Nipigon River in the rapids just below the Canadian Pacific bridge at Nipigon, Ont.

It all happened late in the evening. The trout at this point are the most famed and largest brook trout in the world. But just at that time they were not striking as usual on account of the exceedingly cold night. However, I decided to go to the river to try out a little split bamboo bait casting rod, 24 ounces, that I had made for casting very light lures. I would be a revelation to myself and other anglers to take trout in this manner, when fly casting is the vogue.

The water under the Canadian Pacific bridge, and below for a quarter of a mile at least, flows like a millrace. I attached to my line a small weighted feather casting minnow, just to see if the little rod would shoot it. At the first try I shot it toward the west bank and in the opposite edge of fast water.

The very instant that the tiny lure struck the water the second of the only two large rainbow trout that up to then had ever been taken out of the Nipigon river seized my lure. He was a monster. It seemed an impossible accomplishment ever to land that fish with the little rod and the fine nine-pound test casting line. The only thing that helped me in that fight was the generous supply of line I had in store on my reel, and the compassing of it.

I worked up and down those rapids in despair and hope, and as the whims of the strong leaping fish directed. Yet the thrill of trying to land that whooper leaping rainbow with that tiny rod was something I had never conceived possible.

It began to grow darker. Suddenly on the left bank I saw a big black bear take to the water and swim deliberately toward my fish, despite that terrible current. Evidently he took it for a cripple. Right off, that rainbow sensed his presence and darted for the east bank as fast as I could reel in slack, and the bear kept his course direct for him.

The rainbow heading straight for the upstream water, with occasional leaps from it, finally gained the stretch of upstream current, and beat only a few yards behind him.

That bear did not become apprised of my presence until he made a lunge for the fish, missed it as it leaped out of the water, and then scrambled for the bank to get a better survey of its expected prey. That very moment he got a whiff of the man scent, wheeled and scrambled as fast as he could for the thicket of spruce along the sheer hillside.

And then the thrill of thrills occurred in the darkness as I roughed that spent rainbow, and brought him to the shore, narrow sand bank where, as he was far too large for my landing net, I fell on top of him and held him captive with my hands and knees until his strength was entirely exhausted.—New York World.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The reason for, and the backbone of strength of, Autocracy was the acceptance and performance of the responsible acts of government.

Democracy, to the successful, must accept and perform the responsible, acts of government.

In earlier stages of civilization it was but natural that Autocracy should gain power. It did so because it served a useful function. The placing of responsibility into the hands of the head of the family, and then to the clan leader, then to the tribe leader, and later to the king, were each steps forced upon man by the necessities with which he was faced.

Today we struggle for democratic government. In doing so, we are forced to recognize that this really means the acceptance of duties and responsibilities of government by the people themselves. Something more than merely recording a vote when asked to do so on the occasion of elections.

Col. Haig recently called the attention of the war veterans of Canada to the fact that only twenty per cent of them belonged to their organizations, of which bodies there were some fourteen or fifteen. He urged all veterans to organize for their own purposes, and that the organizations should be unified—Canada being the last part of the British Empire to take this step.

The past few years have shown very plainly to the farmers that democracy adds greatly to the duties devolving upon the citizen. The election of farmer representatives to the parliaments, federal and provincial, did not by any means fill the bill. It is true they were of great and essential advantage, but these actions needed supplementing.

Legislation may lay down the rules and regulations of the game; but the players themselves must "play the game." Hence the necessity of organizing for the commercial activities of the farmer as well as for the politics. So we have, first, the wheat pool; later the live stock, dairy and poultry pools; and doubtless these will be followed by other equally essential forms of organization.

The very formation of these pools place responsibilities upon those who have contracted with them. The duties of self-government and the duties of ordinary shareholders in any commercial locals, delegates, representatives, etc.

He is a traitor to his cause who does not give intelligent consideration to the problems of today. Traitor, no less, by reason of ignorance and neglect; when if he was a secret enemy within the camp.

The hot dry weather with the early maturing of grass and weeds has brought around their danger of fire at an earlier date than usual. It is no less necessary to remove the rank growths of ripening grass and weeds from around the premises now, than it was to remove the rubbish in the spring. Scraps of paper, chips of wood, and other inflammable materials find a harboring place in the rank growths. All waiting for the spark which may feed a fire, which in turn may prove disastrous.

Remove and destroy these ugly fire traps. Anyway your premises will look better without them. Do it before harvesting starts. Otherwise a spark from a train, a careless smoker, or a chimney may do it for you. And make you pay for its destructive work with a heavy toll of damages.

You are cordially invited to call at Saker's and examine the new "Victory" Jar. Don't buy your sealers until you see these.

CONSERVING FERTILITY ON PRAIRIE FARMS

During the first few years of cultivation and cropping, Western prairie soils lose fertility at a rapid rate. This is more particularly true when summer fallowing is practiced. Investigations by Dr. P. T. Shutt, the Dominion Chemist, carried on over a series of years, have proved, however that time goes on the loss of fertility occurs at a less rapid rate. The lessons learned from this investigation point conclusively to the necessity of introducing rotation grasses and clovers into the farming practice if profitable farming is to be maintained. At the conclusion of his bulletin covering his investigations on this subject, the Dominion Chemist points hopefully to the increasing adoption of mixed farming, including dairying and stock raising. The extension of this

In Loving Remembrance of
Fred Burton
Died May 29th 1925

By a Friend

Yes, Fred has gone. Why should it be?
Alas! No one can tell,
But "He" Who lives and rules above,
Who doeth all things well.

The place seems always cloudy now,

We miss the friendly smile,
The kindly voice, the pleasant word,

We miss you all the while.

Comrades and pals, they miss the voice

Of the boy they loved to hear,
The careless step, so light, so free,
Is missed by eyes now bathed in tears.

Little children miss the boy,
His place nobody else can fill,
While thought to manhood, he had grown.

He was their playmate still.

Old and young, they loved him much:

Our loss is just his gain:

O' yonder, in that fair bright home

We will see him once again.

Don't fret and worry, Gladys, dear,
Weep not! For all is well.

For he has passed from earthly care

With Christ, in heaven, to dwell.

Parents, your hearts seem broken now

Your son has sunk to rest.

The Shepherd took him in the fold

For God knew what was best.

Loving sisters mourn for him,

The playmate of childhood days;

To you the world seems very dark

The sun has lost its rays.

Loved ones all, do miss him much,

But he has just gone on before.

If you are faithful, it won't be long

Till you meet him at the door.

To you all, the sky is overcast,

Your hearts are filled with pain:

But, in the Bible, we are told,

Our loss is just his gain.

Around the "Throne of God" above,

We'll gather, one by one.

If we are faithful to "Him" here,

We'll hear the great "Well Done!"

UNWIN'S FIRST SPORTS SUCCESSFUL EVENT

Unwins first sports given under the auspice of the Battle River Board of Trade, was a huge success, a large crowd gathered from all the surrounding districts, on Wednesday July 29th.

The senior baseball was represented by four teams from Allister, Manitou Lake, Lone Rock and Unwin. The first game was between Manitou Lake and Unwin, when Unwin defeated Manitou Lake by a score of 5-4, and the second game Allister easily took Lone Rock into camp with a score of 6-0. The final game was between Unwin and Allister, this was a close game but in the end Unwin proved too much for the Allister team, so win first money with a score of 12-8.

H. Voss was the umpire of the day.

Eight teams entered for the horse shoe tournament from Lashburn, Marsden and Unwin. This was won by Barnes and Spencer, first; and Meighen and Lavold, second.

D. McCutcheon came out first and second in both horse races. The Polo game was represented by the Eagle Butte Old Men vs. Young Men, but the young stalwarts proved too much for the older ones, and won by a score of 2-1.

The last thing on the grounds was a dog and badger fight, and as soon as the badger got out of the box he beat it for the trees. The dance finished the day with a large crowd, with music by Gordon Bros.

F. A. Owens, of Mannix & Owens, has arrived with a large outfit and is tearing up the ground in great style.

LEALHOLME U.F.A.

A meeting of the Lealholm U.F.A. was held last Thursday, a fair number being present. I Neil delegate gave a report of the recent convention at Wainwright, and Charles Miller gave a report as director.

All set for the Chauvin Fair. We are all going. Then we'll go home and start harvesting.

"THE BRIDGE OF SIGHS"

"The Bridge of Sighs" is a picture you should not fail to see. It is vibrant with human appeal. A story that will grip you with its story of Self sacrifice of an innocent man who was tried and convicted, and featuring the talented artists: Dorothy MacKail, Creighton Hale, Richard Tucker, Alice B. Francis and Ralph Lewis. Taken from the story by Charles Harris, the noted Song writer. This powerful picture will be shown next Friday at Chauvin. This being fair day Mr. Riches is putting on two shows, the first beginning at six o'clock.

There will be no show at Chauvin next Monday, but Edgerton show will be put on as usual on Tuesday next.

EDGERTON NEWS

Favored with excellent weather, Edgerton held their annual sports day on Wednesday 29th of July with an estimated crowd of close to one thousand people in attendance. Quite a lengthy program of various events were run off and resulted in the following: Harness racing, first Gorton, Edgerton, second Ferry, Provost; Free for all running race, first and second Markle, Provost; Pony race, first Mortenson, Doley second Harris, Chauvin. Basketball, first Wainwright, second Edgerton; Baseball, first Wainwright, second McCafferty. Horse shoe throwing, first Hedland and Genderton, Wainwright second Killoran and Kelly, Edgerton.

A large number of children's races and also novelty races kept the crowd in good humour, especially the contest of spike driving by ladies. This had to be run in heats and when the finals were run off, Mrs. Warnock easily led for first money with Mrs. Tennant a close second. A great deal of money and also a number of donations of labour has been expended on the local grounds and a pretty race track has been laid out besides a number of other improvements which help to make our grounds more realistic of what they should be and what they will be when we are done with them.

Cutting started in this district last Thursday and quite a large number intend starting to-day. Crops are very uneven and will be lighter than was at first expected.

Another man who goes up against another man's game soon discovers that it isn't a game of chance.

ous pools. The U.F.A. locals started in their humble way of trying to better themselves socially and in economics and education, from buying collectively Gopher poison, formalin, coal, groceries, twine etc., to the establishing of co-operative stores, then by talking political action and finally the Wheat Pool which seems to be going over the top.

He also pointed out how it was much easier to obtain results where there were good U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. locals, the ladies seemed to be helping the men where they were both organized. The women had a knack for attending to local work, while the men were apt to go to the far end of things and work back.

In conclusion he made an appeal to the delegates to leave no stone unturned to keep up the parent organization to full strength. If we did and carried through another election with our forces up to full strength we would be accomplishing more than any such groups have done in the past.

Mr. Wm. Irvine also had great praise for the work done by the U.F.A. and also the work of the Alberta group in the house of commons and especially for our sitting member Mr. H. E. Spencer when he was called to the platform the second time after the nomination of the candidate.

A delegate arose at one time when a resolution was brought forward to put the sessional indemnities on a sliding scale and thought a punch clock in the House would be more beneficial but Mr. Irvine said that if such a clock were installed or not we could always figure that Mr.

Spencer would be in his seat while a session was on.

Mr. Spencer in his report which was given for an hour each day tried to give a synopsis of the five months session; of course it had to be brief but showed that a great deal of work was necessary to prepare such a report.

One thing about parliament there generally is a great deal of oratory for the greater part of the session and on one occasion in the lying hours of Parliament over one hundred millions of estimates were put through in one night's sitting.

Some relief was obtained for the Hudson's Bay R.R. the Grain Act was amended to be of some benefit, and the advance to the Home Bank depositors were cut to fifty per cent.

The Rural credits bill was cut to the extent that it was useless. The Australian treaty was questionable, and the shipping subsidy a hoax. S. S. 13, resolution got scant recognition. The Crows Nest Pass agreement was thrown on mercy of Railway commission. Budget proposals were not recognized. Agriculture being ignored.

While the Progressives have acted as a balance while in the House and do support good legislation fostered by either party it is charged by parties in some localities that the platform of the progressives is an annex to liberal platform, still the two old parties join hands to quash votes against the granting of special privileges.

During the session the Alberta Greens voted with the Liberals nineteen times, with the conservatives twenty-two, while the Conservatives voted with the U.F.A. Group eight times.

The progressives fought hard against the grant of five million to the Quebec Harbor. During 1924 the Quebec Harbor landed five million bushels of grain and had facilities for many times that amount but still they had no trouble getting five million more.

Mr. Spencer criticized many other items of legislation passed, which show reckless extravagance, on the part of the government, and yet there are over nine hundred million of tax free bonds which pay no tribute to the treasury of Canada.

The vocal selections rendered at the convention were greatly enjoyed. Solos were given by Messrs T. W. Hayes, R. A. Beck and A. F. Aitken, a duet by Messrs Hays and Beck, and two selections by a chorus of six voices, namely Messrs Hays Beck, Aitken, Neil, Farquarson and Skinner.

The convention opened the first day with O Canada. The second Organize and closed about five p.m. by the singing the National Anthem.

It is estimated that 69,000 harvesters will be needed in the west this fall. Manitoba will need 14,000 Saskatchewan 41,000 and Alberta 11,000. It is estimated that 13,000 men can be found locally; 6,000 in British Columbia; and the balance from eastern Canada.

All points on the Canadian National Railways between Bruce and Chauvin form the territory included in district No. 2. of the new live stock pool.

talk on the dairy pool aroused the interest of his audience in this branch of co-operative marketing, which was shown by the numerous questions asked and answered on this subject.

Mr. C. East of Vermilion spoke on the question of national finance.

Mrs. Postang of the U.F.W.A. Board dealt with the matter of organization in a very thorough and able manner.

Among the resolutions passed were those dealing with greater use of Post Office Savings Bank Provincial Legislation complying with Federal Bankruptcy Amendments, recently passed Act forms in educational system. Federal Credits.

The numerous subjects dealt with those addressing the convention were studied with close attention during the sessions.

At the conclusion the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

B. P. SHIPPING FIRST CAR
OF OIL FROM NEW WELL*Steady Bailing Falls To Lower Level Of Precious Fluid

The British Petroleum has a number of teams busy drawing oil from the new No. 3, B., well to a tank car at Wainwright, from where it will be shipped as soon as loaded. Since the well was brought in the drillers kept the long bailer going for 24 hours to see what impression could be made on the level of the oil in hole. After this continuous test no impression appeared to have been made on the level of the oil.

Tuesday, a pump was being installed and as soon as way may can be devised for disposing of the production, the well will be ready for operation. The high quality of this oil, as compared with oil produced in other wells, should assure a ready market as soon as storage tanks and pipe line arrangements can be installed.

Interior Resume Drilling

HOW TO HANDLE

A NATURAL SWARM

(Experimental Farms Note)

"There is a swarm of bees clustering in one of my trees—what shall I do?" comes the telephone message.

If you have no beekeeping equipment, invert a box over the eluster and smoke or crowd the bees up into it; then place them where they will be undisturbed and secure a hive as soon as possible.

A beekeeper would use a complete hive containing frames of full sheets of foundation or drawn comb and should have a smoker going in case of need.

To prevent the swarm from deserting, open brood is often esed if procurable, or an excluder is placed between bottom board and hive body.

If the branch on which the swarm is clustered is unimportant, it should be cut without disturbing the bees, carried to the hive and the bees shaken from it in front of the entrance. Direct bees into hive by a few puffs of smoke.

Should they cluster support be immovable, brush, jar, crowd or smoke, bees into a box from which they are dumped in front of the hive entrance.

In case of a queen with clipped wings, procedure is more simple. While the swarm is in air, the clipped queen should be found on grass a few feet from the hive entrance, and aged. Next, move the old hive to a new location, substituting in its place a complete hive, already described and stack the partly filled supers removed from the old hive above. The aged queen is placed in the entrance and all is ready for the swarm which soon returns and enters the hive in search of the queen. When a goodly number of bees have entered the hive, the queen is released and enters too; then all start work with renewed vigour.

B. P. NO. 3 OIL

SAMPLES TESTED

Testing of oil samples from the new No. 3B well at Wainwright, shows that the quality is the highest quality yet obtained from the field. The analysis was made by Dr. J. A. Kelso at the University of Alberta and shows that the gravity was nearly 19, stated Director Tom Sugars of the British Petroleum company, on Friday morning.

Gravity tests of the oil from No. 4 B.P. well, resulted in 14 being shown, so it can be seen that there is a marked improvement in the new producer. The gasoline content at No. 3B's above 10 per cent, so that there is no question about it being a commercial well, says Mr. Sugars.

"It is our intention to put a pump in the new well right away and it should be thoroughly tested as to productive capacity in about two week," said Mr. Sugars. "There is over 800 feet of oil in the casing now but I would not say at present that it will run above 100 barrels per day."

It is also the intention to get further samples of the oil from the new well so that tests can be made by other parties. Regarding the other B. P. wells, Mr. Sugars said that No. 3 will be closed up at once, but it will be kept ready for deep test if such is desired. No. 2 is running around 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day and fuel for operating purposes will be provided from this well.

MIX WAINWRIGHT AND TURNER OIL

Oil from the Wainwright field may be sold in large quantities to the Imperial Oil company to use for mixing purposes with the high grade gasoline from the Turner valley, so it was reported here on good authority on Monday. It is understood that there has been some negotiating but that nothing of a definite nature will be decided until production at the new No. 3B well is determined.

By making use of the Wainwright oil, the Imperial company could reduce the Turner Valley product to the proper grade, it is claimed. The gravity of the southern gasoline is .73 and this is too high for satisfactory use in automobiles.

Immediate steps are being taken to put the new Wainwright well on the pump in order to ascertain its productive capacity.

Officials of the British Petroleum company are reticent in regard to negotiations with the C.N.R. in regard to supplying fuel oil. They admit that further tests are being made and another carload from No. 4 well will be shipped out shortly. With production assured it is felt certain that a considerable amount of oil would be taken by the railway.

A meeting of directors of the Western Consolidated company will be held in a few days to decide upon the drilling policy for the year. A. B. Palmer of Vancouver, is expected shortly and then there will be a full meeting of the directorate.

oughly they had absorbed the lesson he had given them formerly, even Mr. Elliot himself was surprised, and expressed the opinion that if the class kept on as it had begun, there was no material in it for a place in provincial stock judging contests.

At the close of the demonstration, there was an adjournment to the lawn where a delicious lunch was served by the ladies of the house with real hospitality. Later there were 'cones an' cones' of ice cream appeared, Mr. Strachan having 'come across' with his promise of ice cream for the young judges, a favor which also extended itself in great plenty to the 'mere' grownups who looked on.

After every one had had more than enough of the good things, Mr. Pitman proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Elliot for his very interesting demonstration, and Dr. Fulkens another vote of thanks to the Strachan family for the splendid hospitality which had contributed so much to the success of the days proceedings. Both votes met with a hearty response from those present, every one expressing great pleasure in having been present, and of the good time had.
